Games, Nature, & Experiments Rock Paper Scissors Split Game

Estimated Time: 5 – 10 minutes

Age range: All grades

What you need: two participants (additional players can cheer on participants, or you can have the winner of each round play one another)

Background Information:

This game is like Rock Paper Scissors, but with a big twist! The goal of the game is to be the last person standing! You'll need some serious balance and coordination to be declared the ultimate winner.

Follow the instructions on the following page to get started.

Rock Paper Scissors Split Game

Instructions:

1. A round begins with two people standing face to face. Both players should have one foot stacked in front of the other, touching their heel to their toe. Move the front foot to touch the other person's front foot.
2. Once the players are positioned, Rock, Paper, Scissors begins. The best out of one round each time wins.
3. The winner moves their front foot directly behind their back foot, touching the toe of their front foot to their heel (yellow hat). The loser slides their front foot forward so that it touches the winner's front foot (grey hat).
4. This process is repeated until someone falls over or touches the ground. It is important that the back foot is not moved when sliding your front foot to meet your opponent's. Play as many rounds as you'd like!
